I worked alongside clients to create branding and promotional materials, such as business cards, brochures, and logos. I also crafted visually appealing designs for both digital and print media, including social media graphics, website layouts, and email newsletters. To ensure that my design concepts matched the client's objectives and brand guidelines, I conducted research. Additionally, I took charge of managing projects from start to finish, ensuring that deadlines and budgets were met. I also collaborated with various vendors, such as web developers and printers, to ensure that projects were completed successfully.
